Innomotics wins ESG award for turbine replacement project

Nuremberg, January 13, 2026 – Innomotics Drive Technology Co., Ltd. (Shanghai) has been honored with the “2025 German Enterprises in China Excellence ESG Project Award” for its all-electric drive solution for ethylene crackers in the petrochemical industry.

Innomotics received the award for implementing a pioneering project in Tarim to build the first 100% electrically driven ethylene cracker in China. To achieve this, conventional fossil-fuel-powered turbine drives were replaced with an all-electric solution. The turbine replacement enables a nearly emission-free production process and makes a significant contribution to the industry's low-carbon transformation.

The award is presented jointly by the ESG Alliance and the German Chamber of Commerce in China and was initiated by the German Consulate General in Shanghai. It recognizes German companies with locations in China for exemplary projects in corporate social responsibility and sustainable development. It also underscores the importance of German-Chinese industrial cooperation in the energy transition and climate protection.
